

That's the spot!

Our new 3-hour parking zone in Lakeside Downtown Kincardine helps make visiting easier and more convenient for everyone!

Starting May 1, 2025, we're introducing a 3-hour parking limit on Queen Street from Durham Market Street South to Durham Street from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., seven days a week.

This updated parking zone, along with our other free parking areas, helps to support local business, improve accessibility, and enhance your Lakeside Downtown Kincardine experience.

Find the spot that's right for you!

Free Parking

Our municipal lots offer free all-day parking with no time limits. The Princes Street lot also has a pay for use charging station.

Convenience

If you're here for a quick visit, the new 3-hour parking zone is available for you to zip in and out. If you're planning to be downtown a bit longer, our free parking areas are perfect for longer stays.

Accessible Options

No matter where the designated accessible parking space is, there's no time limit for those who are permitted to use them.

Helping Each Other

Be considerate when you're traveling or parking. Leave spots on the street for those who need them like parents with strollers and young kids, or those with limited mobility.

Working Together

If your business is downtown, encourage your employees to use the free lots - you can look at rewards for this, too. If you're planning an event, consider incorporating shuttle services, and always leave room for emergency vehicles.

How can businesses and event organizers help?

Encourage staff to use the free municipal lots. Employers can offer small incentives for this.

Arranging for your special event to have bus services to shuttle attendees downtown stress-free.

Encouraging active transportation like walking, biking, carpooling, or other eco-friendly ways to get downtown.

If your event closes a street, make sure you're still planning to leave enough space for emergency vehicles to pass.
